What an RSS URL & Feed Look Like

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the address bar displaying www.trumba.com/calendars/RI_Environment_Featured_Events.rss. Below the address bar, there is a yellow banner with a text input field containing "Live Bookmarks" and a "Subscribe Now" button. A red arrow points from the text "Pasting this URL into a feed reader on another website will publish this content into that other site, such as feeds.whitelilac.info." to the "Live Bookmarks" field. Below the banner, the page content includes a section titled "Featured Events" with a sub-header "RSS FEED FROM THE FEATURES CALENDAR ON WHAT GROWS ON IN RI GENERATES THIS LIST." and the Trumba logo. The first event listed is "Owl Prowl at Fort Refuge" on January 9, 2014, with details about the location, time, and description. The second event is "Winter Big Day 2014" on January 11, 2014, with details about the location and time.

Fort Nature Refuge, (Rt. 5), 1443 Providence Pike, North Smithfield, RI
Thursday, January 9, 2014

Bundle up and join a night hike in search of owls. We will call for different species of owls as we travel through mixed and pine woods. While we never know if we'll actually get to hear or see an owl, participants will be sure to learn a lot about these amazing creatures and enjoy an evening hike. Wear warm socks and shoes or boots and dress warmly. Bring a flashlight. Hike will be canceled in the event of inclement weather or icy trails.
